

the wines

“I like to think about the life of wine, how it is a living thing.
I like to think about what was going on in the year the grapes were growing. How the sun was shining, if it rained. I like to think about all the people who tended and picked the grapes.
And if it’s an old wine, how many of them must be dead by now.
I like how wine continues to evolve,
I like if I opened a bottle of wine today it would taste different than if I’d opened it on any other day, because a bottle of wine is actually alive.
And it is constantly evolving and gaining complexity, that is until it peaks, like your ’61.
And then it begins its steady inevitable decline.”

— Maya, from the movie “Sideways” (2004)

the reds

In the early 1990's, the TV series 60 Minutes twice aired a report on the phenomenon known as the French Paradox

– the fact that the French have a lower rate of heart disease than Americans, despite a diet that is higher in fat.

Since the one thing the American diet lacks, in comparison to the French diet, is red wine, some researchers were looking for a link between the consumption of red wine and a decreased rate of heart disease.

Not surprisingly, in the year following this report, Americans increased their purchases of red wines by 39 percent.

Wine is fat free and contains no cholesterol!

Cabernet Sauvignon

The words 'powerful, masculine and complex' best describe Cabernet Sauvignon. Aromas of blackberry, blackcurrant, cassis, mint, warm spice, plum, eucalyptus, cedarwood and sometimes leather all fill the glass. It might be a bit of a bully, but the mighty Cabernet Sauvignon has staying power, a prize fighter – still, 'king of the ring'. Pairs well with red meats, hearty pasta, lamb, strong cheese and chocolate.

Pinot Noir

Nicknamed the 'Heartbreak Grape', Pinot Noir is like a temperamental teenager; stubborn and sensitive. Done right, it is a thing of beauty. It can be remarkably subtle, silky textured with layers of earth, mushroom, wild strawberries, raspberries and warm baked cherries. Pairing includes poultry, beef, bacon, fish, lamb and mushrooms, spicy and ethnic foods.

*The cool kid in town, Syrah travels in mufti as Shiraz and is Australia's spicy, big-hitting red wine, rich and fruit forward, masculine, rustic and profoundly elegant. ## Nebbiolo/Barbaresco/Barolo/Barbera

*Nebbiolo is the quintessential Piedmontese wine grape. It is named after and evokes the region's foothills on cool autumn mornings, when valleys and vineyards lie hidden under a ghostly blanket of nebbia (fog). Nebbiolo is most celebrated for making complex, high acid, high tannin Barolo and Barbaresco. ## And now for some ‘drinking out loud’ in Portugal

Until very recently, Portugal did a pretty poor job with its Douro patrimony. Too often the wines were dirty tasting, from old, unclean barrels. The winemaking was crude, the ambition for greatness non-existent.

*No More! Portugal is now gushing with stunning wines — and yes, stunning deals. Portugal very likely now offers some of the greatest wine values on the market today. Portugal’s achievement is still recent and the word hasn’t quite made the rounds! It is arguably the most exciting wine place on the planet today!

the whites

“Want to know the secret to pairing white wines?
Think of a cool region wine with no oak on it — say, Sancerre, Pinot Grigio, or Tocai Friulano.
Now, think of a lime. If you can put lime on your food, you can most likely pair it with an unoaked white wine.
Ceviche and Sancerre is going to be a great pairing.
Chicken in a béchamel sauce with Sancerre, probably not.
Now, think of a white wine with oak on it — say, California Chardonnay. Think of it like butter.
If a dish works with butter, it will work with the wine.
Lobster with Chardonnay: a great pairing.
Ceviche with Chardonnay: definitely not.”

— Greg Harrington, MS

Chardonnay

"As I ate the oysters with their strong taste of the sea and their faint metallic taste that the cold white wine washed away, leaving only the sea taste and the succulent texture, and as I drank their cold liquid from each shell and washed it down with the crisp taste of the wine, I lost the empty feeling and began to be happy and to make plans.

The Rieslings

One of our most under-appreciated varieties, Riesling exudes layers of lemon, lime, peaches, stone fruit, and a distinct aroma of wet stone combined with racy acidity. It is a perfect match for spicy food. Riesling is a challenge to the viticulturist.

Given good weather, the longer the grapes remain on the vine, the sweeter they become – but the winemaker takes a risk as all could be lost in the event of bad weather.

*Jacqueline , la fondatrice of Chateaux Ollieux – a magnificent old property surrounded by old vines and olive trees or “Ollieux” – was probably one of the first winemakers in Languedoc. Unique, she fought against prejudice to protect the oldest vines in the Corbieres, the Carrignan or Alicante grapes. She took risks by launching one of the first oak aged whites of the appellation. ## Rosé – Drinking Pink

Rosé, unlike red wine and Helen Mirren, does not improve over the years so don't get any ideas about hoarding it in your cellar for half a century. There's no shame in drinking something with last year printed on the label. You shouldn't drink (and probably won't find) anything that's dated more than two or three years back.
